The aim of the Leeds Beckett Repository is to provide open access to our research, as required by funder policies and permitted by publishers and copyright law.

The Leeds Beckett repository holds a wide range of publications, each of which has been checked for copyright and the relevant embargo period has been applied by the Research Services team.

We operate on a standard take-down policy. If you are the author or publisher of an output and you would like it removed from the repository, please contact us and we will investigate on a case-by-case basis.

Each thesis in the repository has been cleared where necessary by the author for third party copyright. If you would like a thesis to be removed from the repository or believe there is an issue with copyright, please contact us on openaccess@leedsbeckett.ac.uk and we will investigate on a case-by-case basis.

Integrating personal values in your job: Transitioning from job desperation to job inspiration

Psychology@Work Series

Large Conference Room, Community Base,
113 Queen's Road, Brighton BN1 3XG

Tuesday 28 February 2017, 7.00pm–8.30pm. Networking from 6.30pm

The changing nature of work is apparent in people's desire to find meaning, purpose and flexibility in the workplace. How does this trend relate to the growing number of Millennials entering the working world? And what is the future role of identifying and integrating personal values in the work environment to enhance job satisfaction?

Presenter

Dr Gaby Pfeifer is a research fellow at the Brighton and Sussex Medical School with a background in psychology and cognitive neuroscience. Alongside her experimental work she has an interest in the psychology of personal development and the art of bridging individual's values and talents with the workplace.

This is a free event and all are welcome to attend.

Prior booking is required as places are limited.
