The aim of the Leeds Beckett Repository is to provide open access to our research, as required by funder policies and permitted by publishers and copyright law.

The Leeds Beckett repository holds a wide range of publications, each of which has been checked for copyright and the relevant embargo period has been applied by the Research Services team.

We operate on a standard take-down policy. If you are the author or publisher of an output and you would like it removed from the repository, please contact us and we will investigate on a case-by-case basis.

Each thesis in the repository has been cleared where necessary by the author for third party copyright. If you would like a thesis to be removed from the repository or believe there is an issue with copyright, please contact us on openaccess@leedsbeckett.ac.uk and we will investigate on a case-by-case basis.
Developing mentoring as a space for [trans]formative conversations

Formative

• .... serving to form something, having a profound influence on a person’s development

Transformative

• .... causing a marked change in someone, to change in form, appearance, or structure, to metamorphose
3 engagement activities

3 research propositions

3 reflective questions
Engagement activities

- Paired conversation
- Individual observation
- Small group review
Paired conversation

• Who do you talk with about your own work?

• Why them?

• What do you typically talk about?

• Are your conversations ones during which, and from which, you learn?

• Does your practice change as a result?
Individual observation

• For each of the next 3 images ....

• Note down a few words or phrases to describe the nature of the situation and interaction
Small group review

What might these two activities tell us about conversation as part of mentoring students teachers?
Research propositions

Cautionary tales → Mentoring ‘spaces’ → Developing mentoring talk
Cautionary tales

It is difficult for teachers to engage in interaction [with each other] with sufficient frequency, specificity, and depth to generate new insights into teaching dilemmas or to foster instructional innovation.

Mentoring ‘spaces’

PHYSICAL / TEMPORAL ‘SPACE’
- What activities occur;
- How individuals undertake their activities;
- How the space is configured & set up;
- How resources are deployed;
- The productiveness of actions.

SOCIAL ‘SPACE’
- How individuals connect & relate to each other;
- What roles are taken;
- Formal or informal relationships;
- Significance of power, trust & solidarity;
- How individuals feel in the social space

SEMANTIC ‘SPACE’
- What is said & written;
- The nature of the language used;
- The balance of formality or informality;
- The meaning, intention & comprehensibility of communication;
- How communication is received & responded to.

Developing Mentoring Talk

Stimulate

Know how to initiate thoughtful reflections and stimulate decisions but also know when to hold back and let the other take the initiative.

Use what is available to create stimulus, to provoke discussion. Try video, agreed observation notes, teacher learning journal, pupils’ work, planning etc

Scaffold

Introduce a sense of scale in discussion. Be aware of the relationships between ...

Critical moments (unplanned but interesting),

Planned learning episodes,

The lesson as a whole,

Broad themes which open up discussion about Teaching and Learning,

Big ideas – exploring the relationship between school, individuals and society.

Sustain

Think about your tone of voice – keep it neutral and curious.

Create opportunities for time travel - think ahead, think backwards, think laterally.

Create a dynamic conversation in which there are opportunities to share problems, to pose & respond to questions, to extend thinking, to build solutions.

Reflective questions

In mentoring what are our formative and transformative aims?

How can we create a space for [trans]formative conversations?

What changes can I make in my practices?
