Citation:
Gibbon, J The Etiquette of the Arms Trade; ten years drawing in arms fairs. [Show/Exhibition]

Link to Leeds Beckett Repository record:
http://eprints.leedsbeckett.ac.uk/6665/

Document Version:
Show/Exhibition

The aim of the Leeds Beckett Repository is to provide open access to our research, as required by funder policies and permitted by publishers and copyright law.

The Leeds Beckett repository holds a wide range of publications, each of which has been checked for copyright and the relevant embargo period has been applied by the Research Services team.

We operate on a standard take-down policy. If you are the author or publisher of an output and you would like it removed from the repository, please contact us and we will investigate on a case-by-case basis.

Each thesis in the repository has been cleared where necessary by the author for third party copyright. If you would like a thesis to be removed from the repository or believe there is an issue with copyright, please contact us on openaccess@leedsbeckett.ac.uk and we will investigate on a case-by-case basis.
The Etiquette of the Arms Trade,
The Bradford Peace Museum,
13/04/2018 – 17/05/2019

A solo exhibition curated by Jill Gibbon of her practice-based research about the arms trade. The UK and US regularly sell weapons to repressive regimes and unstable states. Gibbon uses drawing and performance to explore how these deals are normalised. She visits arms fairs in Europe and the Middle East by dressing up as an arms trader. Once inside, she draws. The sketchbooks give unique insights into a secretive industry, showing how arms deals are legitimised through etiquette. They include a string quartet playing in the shadow of a tank, hostesses offering teargas catalogues with champagne, a fashion show in front of a rack of missiles, suits and handshakes.

The exhibition included over 30 sketchbooks, gifts collected from arms company stalls, the outfit she wears to gain access to these events, and photographs of her performance as an arms trader. The drawings, gifts, dress, and photographs show the rituals, manners, and gestures that shroud the arms industry in a veneer of respectability.

The exhibition was covered by the BBC World Service (28/04/18), BBC Radio 4 (08/05/19), and The Guardian (11/04/18; 27/07/14).
Exhibition interior, Bradford Peace Museum, 2018
Arms trader outfit, Bradford Peace Museum, 2018 - 2019
Selection of gifts from DSEI 2007 – 2017, sweet, stress ball, condom