

LEEDS
BECKETT
UNIVERSITY

---

Citation:

Carless, D and Douglas, K (2009) Opening doors: Poetic representation of the sport experiences of men with severe mental health difficulties. Qualitative Inquiry, 15 (10). 1547 - 1551. ISSN 1077-8004 DOI: <https://doi.org/10.1177/1077800409332081>

Link to Leeds Beckett Repository record:

<https://eprints.leedsbeckett.ac.uk/id/eprint/921/>

Document Version:

Article (Accepted Version)

---

The aim of the Leeds Beckett Repository is to provide open access to our research, as required by funder policies and permitted by publishers and copyright law.

The Leeds Beckett repository holds a wide range of publications, each of which has been checked for copyright and the relevant embargo period has been applied by the Research Services team.

We operate on a standard take-down policy. If you are the author or publisher of an output and you would like it removed from the repository, please contact us and we will investigate on a case-by-case basis.

Each thesis in the repository has been cleared where necessary by the author for third party copyright. If you would like a thesis to be removed from the repository or believe there is an issue with copyright, please contact us on openaccess@leedsbeckett.ac.uk and we will investigate on a case-by-case basis.

Running head: OPENING DOORS

Opening Doors:

Poetic Representation of the Sport Experiences of Men with Severe Mental Health Difficulties

David Carless, Leeds Metropolitan University

Kitrina Douglas, University of Bristol

Published as: Carless, D. & Douglas, K. (2009). Opening doors: Poetic representation of the sport experiences of men with severe mental health difficulties. Qualitative Inquiry, 15(10), 1547-1551.

Correspondence:

David Carless
Leeds Metropolitan University
Carnegie Research Institute
Headingley Campus
Leeds, LS6 3QS, UK
Phone: +44 7879 647227
Fax : +44 113 283 7575
Email: d.carless@leedsmet.ac.uk

Abstract

We present here a series of poetic representations which stem from our research into the sport and exercise experiences of men with severe mental health difficulties. Relying exclusively on scientific or realist tales risks omitting or misrepresenting participants' sometimes "messy" stories. By allowing space for these stories – which may not be considered "good stories" in terms of traditional narrative criteria of content, form, coherence, or plot – poetic approaches can contribute to a richer and more complex understanding of others' lives. The first poem was written in response to our experiences of doing qualitative research in the context of a rehabilitation day centre for people with severe mental health difficulties. We created the subsequent poems, using only the participants' own words, as a way to further explore and represent their experiences of, and responses to, a golf activity group which was offered within the context the day centre.

Keywords: mental health, narrative, poetry, recovery, representation, sport

The Pepper Pot

The pepper pot sat on the table Minding it's business and still Standing upright in the centre Of the café for those who are ill

Does he mind if I use a recorder?
Does he mind if I listen and care?
I just wanted to ask a few questions
Just wanted to see and be there

The pepper pot sprang into action
Two taps to the left then the right
A quick pirouette and then shaken Depositing dust in the air

The pepper told the story
But no words were spoken that day Held tight in a fist by one in a mist
Like pepper, lost in the air

Doors

I was persuaded to go can't remember who Wasn't going to go But when I found it wasn't permanent felt I'd lost nothing really

It was good time out not a hectic sport out and about,                          Out in the country

The city gets hectic
 I like a breather                          to myself

A sport of relaxation gets your mind                          on another track It takes your mind off                      temporarily while it's going on

I do like doing things outside of mental health When it's something outside you feel free

That's all

No disrespect to the people

I wouldn't say it to their faces

But I just like to feel normal like having the door opened instead of always shut.

Peter's Stuff

I was interested 'cause I'd played before

(a long time ago)

It was only just a one-off

I went mad, just went out spent some money on clubs got into it I suppose

I thought I'd give it a go got me interested again

If I can use those clubs, my gloves, my hat

'Cause it's my own personal equipment, say

I feel it's important I should use it and get fulfillment out of it.

O – K

I'll tell you what I think of the golf

I can say it in one word:

O – K

alright, act – u – all – y and I haven't insulted staff we haven't been insulting and that is pro – gress you should be pleased with that I like it light hearted can't stand in – ten – sit – y can't handle people mocking mock – ing – me

I'm not happy about my appearance worry about it

But like to think at sport

I've got ab – il – it – y

Getting It Back Together Again

Awhile back attempted suicide

physical injuries

I was heavily medicated lot of hassle going outdoors

I was paralyzed had to wear a corset

I was feeling OK in May feeling ill in March

Oh, hassles (situations)

feel panicky (get a panic attack)

I need a break from indoors get out, do something an activity, not watching TV

I'm surprised I enjoyed it this much

Not getting as many side-effects symptoms whatever.

It's enjoyable.

Gets rid of some stress.

I can cope with situations.

Part of the package.

Know what I mean?

That went up nicely, not all that far but really straight.

Direction just right.

Yeah, good result wind up follow-through

A proper swing, the last two shots followed through improved (the swing),

the proper thing

I did a proper swing

It's a bit of a relief to know

I'm getting it back together again.

Join the Club

No, no, I don't think so, I think I'd need more practice on an ordinary course like the pitch and putt get familiar, there's a step

No, no, I'd feel out of place don't know anybody there the operation of the club
I don't know how it works

No, no, I don't know if they let people play up there they only allow certain people to go up there to play

That's what I want to do actually if I can

I'd love to do that.

Biographies

David Carless, Ph.D., is currently a Senior Research Fellow at Leeds Metropolitan University, UK. His research focuses on using a variety of narrative and arts-based approaches to explore identity, mental health and psychological well-being in and through physical activity and sport.

Kitrina Douglas, Ph.D., played golf on the Ladies European Tour for twelve years and has worked in broadcasting and the media. Since 1996 she has been conducting narrative and arts-based research in the areas of sport, exercise, and health and is currently an Honorary Visiting Fellow at the University of Bristol, UK.